FAQ

How does T-Rex 3 differentiate itself from other outdoor watch competitors?
T-Rex 3 is built for those who live an active lifestyle in search of everyday adventures. When compared with other outdoor watches, the T-Rex 3 offers a number of advantages, including long-lasting battery life, an enlarged display for easy visibility in any environment, affordable price point, over 170 sport modes (including outdoor workout modes that support contour maps with turn directions), and AI integration via Zepp Flow and Zepp Coach – the latter of which is geared toward athletes who want to step up their training with personalized training plans and guidance.

How does T-Rex 3 compare to its predecessor T-Rex 2?
T-Rex 3 offers a number of product design and software upgrades. Hardware upgrades include a display that's 10% larger and 100% brighter, along with a screen that's now made of Gorilla Glass. The T-Rex 3 is also certified for freediving to a depth of up to 45m. In terms of software, T-Rex 3 adds offline maps and contour maps with turn directions and ski resort maps, as well as AI integration via Zepp Flow. The battery is also currently undergoing tests that point to a typical usage of over three weeks – though final testing is still to be held. The T-Rex 3 is also introducing new privacy measures that enable users to choose how their GPS data is treated.

Can I use T-Rex even if I'm not an extreme adventurer?
T-Rex 3 is built for those who live an active lifestyle in search of every day adventures. This can come in any form such as a simple walk, run, strength training session or cycling. It's also great for outdoor activities such as hiking, snowboarding, surfing, and other adventures.

Does T-Rex 3 pair with Helio Ring?
Yes, T-Rex 3 is the perfect complement to the Helio Ring. T-Rex 3 is your companion for everyday adventures and intense workouts, with an extensive range of sports modes and in-depth training support. The Amazfit Helio Ring serves as a lightweight, silent partner that is ideal to track recovery and sleep. When paired, T-Rex 3 and Helio Ring data will appear in the Zepp App, creating a unique ecosystem that consolidates data collected from both devices for unmatched convenience and actionable insights.
